The Captain Denies that He Winked at Parnell's Visits.

He Did Not Sell His Wife's Honor for Political Advancement.

Chamberlain Aids the Deceived Husband to Prove His Case-Parnell Did Not Aid O'Shea to Parliament,

By Telegraph to The Times. London, Dec. 28 .- By Cable and Associated Press.] Having been advised that he cannot bring a suit for libel with any hope of success, Capt.

O'Shea has published a letter to disprove the truth of Timothy Healy's taunt that he bartered his wife's honor to gain a seat in Parliament. The let-to gain a seat in Parliament. The letter is dated Stalbridge, December 24, 1899. The writer says:

When I was a Liberal, I did my best to promete your (Healy's) candidature as a Liberal and supporter of Gladstone in Middle Armach and afterward at Liverpool in 1885. I quote from a letter from Chamberiain to me, dated December 20, 1890, in which he says: "I assume that you will take some notice of the brutal attack on you made, by Mr. Healy at Kilkenny, although, unless I am mistaken, you will have no legal remedy. His statements age entirely inconsistent with what I know of the general election of 1885. According to my recollection Parnell neglected at first to give you any assistance, and did not do so until he had some letters from myself to another person pointing out that the Liberal party had been of real advantage to both and that such services would continue equally necessary if it were desired to maintain any kind of friendly relations between the Irish Nationalists and the Liberal party.

Kespecting Galway, I find that I wrote you to the same effect in January, 1886, which letter I authorize you to publish if you think it useful. This correspondence ought to afford sufficient evidence that no such compilicity existed as your traducer has been base enough to insinuate.

The letter from Chamberlain is marked "private" and is dated January 22, 1886. It contains the following:

In the present condition of Irish affaira, it is more than ever unfortunate that you have not found a seat. Is there any chance of your standing for one of those now vacant in Ireland? Surely there must be an interest in the irish party to keep open channels of communication with the Liberal leaders. If any possible cooperation is expected, it is clear that a great deal of preliminary talk must be had, and I doubt if any Liberal leader is at present in direct or indirect communication with the Liberal leader. If any possible cooperation is expected, it is clear that a great deal of preliminary talk must be had, and I doubt if any Lib ter is dated Stalbridge, December 24,

AN ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.

Italy May Remove the Restrictions on American Imports. ROME, Dec. 28.—[By Cable and As-sociated Press.] The Italian government several years ago probibited the importation of American pork and lard and soon after extended the prohibition to all countries. It has just taken a step, however, which, it is be-lieved, will result in the removal of the restrictions against the United States. The Minister of the Interior ng, until now they have reached fig ures exceeded only by three nations, will be willing to remove the embargo upon American pork and lard upon similar assurances of the United upon similar assurances of the United States of thorough inspection. It is known that the government is highly pleased with the increasing trade with the United States, which has been less affected by the new tariff than that of other nations. It is believed that the matter has been taken up by Secretary Blaine, and that negotiations are pending. The agents of a number of American shippers are now in this country. They say that the removal of the restrictions against the United States would prove of the greatest benefit, and that they are satisfied that a large market is awaiting such action. a large market is awaiting such action

THE GOAT OR THE TIGER,

Chinese Free Masons Indulge in Hilarious Festivities. Indianapolis, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.] Today was a gala day in local Chinatown, particularly as Sam Lung's laundry, which was the chief scene of merrymaking prelimi-nary to the Masonic ceremonies, which will be celebrated tomorrow at the same place. On Saturday, Mong Du, chief master and bishop; Chee Kung, chief master and bishop; Chee Kung, Tong, presiding elder, and Ah Hee, secretary of the National Lodge of Chinese Free Masons, all citizens of San Francisco, arrived at Indianapolis to preside over the degree work, which will be performed temorrow in fine style.
All today Chinamen were arriving from various parts of the State to either witness or participate in the ceremonies, during which, it is said, several candidates from this city and neighboring towns will curl up their queues and ride the goat, after the regular routine business is disposed of.
The session will last all day and night, winding up with an opportunity for those of a sporting nature to buck the festive tiger, as fan tan will be a feature of the programme, as it was this evening.

THE FRESNO FREIGHT WRECK

he Affair Still Wrapped in Mystery -A Theory That It Was the Result of a Boy's Prank.

The new time table on the Southern Pacific, relating to the branch lines in Southern California, went into effect yesterday and all the trains were running on time. This change gives Pomona an extra train and makes travel in that section much easier. makes travel in that section much easier. The change was really made for the benefit of this flourishing district, as travel in that direction has increased to such an extent that the company found it necessary to give them a better service. According to reports in railroad circles the small towns and agricultural and horticultural districts in Southern California are growing in population to such an extent that additional trains will soon have to be put on in several direcwill soon have to be put on in several direc-tions. Last summer's prosperity among farmers and fruit-growers has given the country a send-off that has extended to the East, and west-bound trains are bringing more actual settlers than they did during the boum. THE FRESNO WRECK.

THE FRESO WRECK.

The Fresno wreck on the Southern Pacific still remains a mystery. All of the best dectives in the employ of the company are at work on the case, and the big reward offered for the rascals who turned the engine that caused the wreck out of the round house, has sent every peace officer and private detective on the trail.

It is believed by several railroad men in this city that the mischief was done by boys, and they are now in Fresno. As soon as the youngsters saw the terrible result of their playfulness, they ran away, and have kept perfectly quiet on the subject.

There is no quoth but that this theory is a good one, as it is impossible to discover what motive men could have had. It was certainly not robbery, as there was nothing on the freight train that the engine ran into to steal, and so far as is known the trainmen on the freight did not have an enemy in the world.

FREE FIGHT.

Lively Times at a Dance - house Early Yesterday Morning. One of the liveliest free-for-all fights that ever took place in the city occurred at a small dauce-house near the First-street viaduct about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The place is conducted by a Mrs. Reed, and her Saturday-night "solrees" have quite a reputation in the neighborhood in and her Saturday-night "solrees" have quite a reputation in the neighborhood in which she resides. The attendance on Saturday night was somewhat larger than usual, but everything passed off quietly until after midnight. One or two minor affairs then took place, but they were quietly settled. Finally, however, about 2 o'clock, a sure-enough "scrap" took place over some trivial matter, and as all hands were feeling the effects of the beer that had been flowing freely all during the evening, and were spoiling for a fight, the row soon became general, and for a time confusion reigned supreme, the only idea being to hit anything and everything that showed up. The police station was telephoned and mounted Officer Maguire was dispatched to the place, but when he arrived, matters had quieted down. There was every evidence that a general fight had taken place, judging from the number of men sitting around with bloody noses and broken heads, but everything about the place was "orderly" at the time, and no arrests could be made.

An hour or two later, however, a telephone message was received, asking that the patrol wagon be sent to Wilson's livery stable, on First street, for a man who was badly hurt. The man proved to be U. Wilson, who had attended the dance, and who was found to be suffering from an ugly cut on the temple, evidently inflicted with a bottle. Wilson was taken to he receiving hospital, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Wing.

It is probable that several complaints will be sworn out this morning.

BLOOD POISONING.

fering from a Severe Case.

Dr. D. A. Cashman, a well-known local physician, is suffering from a severe case of blood poisoning. The doctor has been ill for some weeks past. For a time his life was dispaired of, but his condition is now improved to the extent that it is believed that proved to the extent that it is believed that he will recover unless something at present nforeseen occurs.

The doctor was a short time ago called upon to perform an operation on a lady's eyes. After he had used the knife and before he had cleaned it, he inadvertently placed it in his mouth. The result was that he became inoculated. As soon as the

The following additional paragraphs are taken from the Fraternity:

"Mr. Wineburgh's is another one of the firms who will not be dictated to by a gang like the "locked out." They significantly point to his late defeat in the recent election as the work of the Union. The facts are that Mr. Wineburgh's large vote in the Third ward was a victory even in defeat. His being on the Democratic ticket in an overwhelming Republican ward made his election almost an imposibility, but the support he received showed his popularity."

"In the recent election the Typographical union thought they would put a candidate in the field, corrai the earth and let others vacate. They issued several kinds of dodgers (circulating them during the night,) which contained untruthful, vilialnous and cowardly assaults upon Mr. Bonsall, candidate for Councilman in the Third Ward. These circularis failing, as all other schemes of the boycottors, to do the dirty work calculated upon, were claimed by them to have been issued by The Times, being too timid to father their own haudiwork. But to return to Maurico—"he wasn't in it," alas, no. Notwithstanding the fact that he withdrew his political announcement from The Times, and was chumpioned by the great Typographical Union, he met with the usual disaster. Mr. Bonsall's misjority, as night have been expected, was overwhelming. It is extremely painful to witness the reverses in the fortunes of these industrious boycotters, but such is life, even in Los Angeles."

BULL AND BEAR.

THE "FAKE" FIGHT AT AGRICUL-TURA PARK YESTERDAY.

A Weak Imitation of the Real Article -Nobody Hurt and the Management Considerably

Ahead.

About twelve hundred people wont out to the race-track yesterday to see a buil and bear fight. If the crowd imagined they were going to see a grim and gory spectacle in which blood would flow like water, and a contest resembling the ancient bull-fights of Mexico, they were greatly mistaken. The bear was there, a real California griz-zly, but his claws were clipped and his powerful jaws were muzzied, while old powerful jaws were muzzied, while old taurus, his opponent, had his horns sawed off, so that only a small stump remained. A pit had been erected near the judges' stand and the bear was chained to a post in the center. The bull was goaded into attacking the bear and successful in hotting bulls asked in butting bulls asked in hotting bulls asked in the standard in the second of t succeeded in butting bruin several times in the bread-basket. The bear got his arms around his bullship and gave him several hugs, but it didn't seem to fluster his bovine highness a particle. From his actions, one highness a particle. From his actions, one might imagine he represented a Los Angeles girl being hugged by her best young man.

The bull got the best of the fight and was declared the victor. An imitation to reador then gave a weak exhibition of a buil-fight. The characteristic red rag was flaunted in the buil's face until he got real mad, and would charge at his tormentor, who quickly stepped aside, and once deftly fastened a bouquet on the buil's neck before he recovered from his rush. As a bull always closes his cless before attempting to gore, this sort of buil-fighting isn't very dangerous; not nearly so much so as when the toreador is mounted on a horse and has to rely on his horsemanship to escause injury.

The crowd enjoyed the spectacle for quite a while, and as no one was hurt, the bear still in the ring, the buil minus his horns, and the management twelve hundred half-and-bear fight was a success.

"Honest Litt'e Emma."

Emma Abbot has again earned the title of "Honest Little Emma," bestowed upon her a decade or two ago. She admits that she has just passed her forty-first birthday.

HIS RECEPTION AT THE DEPOT

The Freedom of the City Extended by Mayor Hazard-It Will Be Accepted in the Near

David Kalakaua, the eighth monarch who has ruled the Kingdom of Hawaii, accompanied by the members of his suite and a detail of American officers, arrived in the city at 2:45 resterday afternoon in a special car from San Francisco.

The special car carrying the King and his party was taken off the regular South-ern Pacific overland train at San Fernandostreet Depot and run overente the Santa Fé track. It was then pulled down to the Santa Fé Depot and attached to the south-bound coast line train which departed for Ban Diego at 3:20.

The distinguished visitors were met at the San Fernando-street Depot by Mayor Henry T. Hazard, Gen. A. McD. McCook, Lieut Baker, of the Glendale staff, and Col. H. G. Otis.

Kalakaup, received a thorough English education, in company with about fifteen other hereditary chiefs, in the Royal School at Honolulu. In 1860 Kalakaua made his first visit to California. In 1863 he took unto himself a wife in the person of Princess Kaplolani.

King Lonalilo died on February S. 1874, without proclaiming a successor. Immediately Kalakaua and the Queen Lowager Emma, relief of Kamehameus IV., declared themselves candidates for the throne.

The Legislature was immediately convened in extra assaisan to seet a king. On February 19, 1874, Kalakaua was chosen king, receiving 39 of the electoral votes out of 48, the remaining 6 being given to Queen Emma.

As soon as the result was declared of-war, then lying at the port of Honolulu, for aid. It was promptly given, and the insurgents were dispersed by parties of marines from the Tuscarora, the Portsmouth and the Tendos.

On the 14th of February, 1874, Kalakana was duly installed as monarch of the kingdom of Hawaii, and on the same day he proclaimed his brother William Pitt Lelerohoku, heir apparent.

During the eighteen years that King Kalakaua has ruled in Hawaii the prosperity of the islands has been materially advanced. Commerce has been extended and natural industries developed. Peace has characterized his entire reign, and, barring one or two attempts of insurgents to overturn the government, there have been no uprisings of consequence.

HIS ISLAND KINGDOM.

The Country Over Which Kalakaua Holds Sway. The Hawalian or Sandwich Islands are the most northerly cluster of the Polynesian Archipelago. The twelve islands constitute the kingdom of Hawaii. The total area of the kingdom is 6100 square miles, of which two thirds are included in the principal. which two thirds are included in the principal island which gives its name to the

The islands are all of volcanic formation and mountainous, the fertile lands being confined to the yalleys and to a belt of alluvial soil on the shore. The uplands are adapted to grazing and the mountains are covered with a dense forest growth.

Only seven of the islands are inhabited, Hawail is of triangular shape and is of the most recent formation. Mountains upon the island rise to a height of 13,700 feet, Many square miles of its area are covered with recent and barren lavas. Near the shore natives cultivate sweet potatoes upon lavas that are barely cooled.

Since 1833 and up to 1887, 173 earthquake shocks occurred at Hito, but they were mostly slight. Hawail has two active volcanic craters, Kilanea and Manna Loa. The former is continually active and the latter intermittently. Kitness crater is 5 miles in circumference and 1000 feet deep.

The capital of the kingdom, Honolulu, is situ ted on the island of Oaiu, and has an excellent harbor protected by a barrier of coral reef. It has 21 feet of water on the bar at low tide, and from 4 to 6% fathoms on the inside. In addition to this there are also several other excellent harbors in the group.

island kingdom, whereby Hawaiian sugar was admitted free of duty. The effect of this arrangement was to greatly stimulate trade relations between the islands and the United States. The total amount of sugar exported from the island is over twenty-five million pounds per annua, of which about three-fourths is imported at San Francisco and consumed in the United States.

States.

The constitution of the Hawasian kingdom is modeled largely after that of the United States, as it stands at present, but up to 1839 it was an absolute monarchy.
The islands were discovered by Cook in 1778 and he was killed by the natives in 1779. Cook named the islands the Sandwich, after Lord Sandwich, the first lord of the British edmiratly. In 1795 the kingdom was formed. During that time it has been ruled by eight monarchs.

Four years ago I think we had the poorest streets of any city in the United States, but now we will rank with the best of them. This I consider one of the surset signs of prosperity. When strangers visit a city the first thing they notice is the streets, and if they are in a good condition many other faults will be overlooked. Even a city with poor buildings and good streets will receive a kind word from the average visitor. Now Los Angeles can boast of having both, and I would like to see the color of the man's eyes who will abuse this city."

kept their faces studiously buried in their papers. At One Hundred and Fitty-fitth street a woman of about 25 got aboard in company with an elderly woman. She was neither a blonde ner a brunette, and was in no respect prettier or handsomer than fifty young women you might see any afternoon in upops Broadway. She was attractive chiefly because of her mobile womanly face, her pretty, vivacious manner, and her dainty way of handling herself. She was very tastefully and neatly dressed, and looked every inch a refined woman. She was instantly attractive to a refined man, but no more so than hundreds of women in the streets daily.

"But her entrance was the signal for every man in the car to lay down his paper. The next moment every man looked guilty for this breach of manners, and picked up his paper again. A block or two was traversed and I noticed that all the men began casting covert glances at her over their papers. You see I was primed to observe these things. I was expecting them. As I said, the men were all gentlemanly, and as a consequence their glances were eminently respectful. They would wait till the pretty woman was looking another way, and then allow their gaze to rest fell upon her. In every instance these glances expressed both admiration and fearfulness. The admiration was of the sort that would be complimentary to any woman. The fearfulness was evidently two-fold. In the first place, it indicated that the men were afraid that their fellow-passengers would notice their glances and be offended. Secondly, it showed that they were fearful that their fellow-passengers would notice their weakness. To a perfectly impassive observer, as I tried to make myself, the situation was amusing. I was sitting on the same aide of the car as the young woman, so presently I got up and sat down opposite so I could observe how she took all this implied adoration. She apparently did not notice it. She did not allow her eyes to fall once upon a single man in the car. She talked to the elderly woman, who may have been due

The younger one looked at no one as she walked out in a dignified manner. she walked out in a dignified manner. This is only a single example of what you can see a dozen times daily. Do pretty women, or do they not, recognize the admiration they arouse everywhere they go? If they do, how does it affect them? No pretty woman will confess to her dearest masculine friend that she notices the sensation she makes daily any more than she will show her unknown admirers in the streets by glance or smile that she the streets by glance or smile that she is aware even of their existence."

MODERN MOTHER-GOOSE MELODIES

BY ELIZA A. OTIS.

With Sixty-five Designs and Illustrations by W. Andrew.

A CHRISTMAS JUVENILE, 1890.

ECHOES FROM ELF-LAND

*EGHOES FROM ELF-LAND"

Embraces the following Juvenile Pooms by the author of "OUR BOYS AND GIRLS" Department in the Los Angeles Sunday Times, which has long proved so popular with the readers of this journal:

1. LITTLE BOY BLUE,
2. CINDERBLLA.
3. LITTLE JACK HORNER.
4. BABY BUNTING.
6. JACK AND THE BEANSTALK.
6. ROJK-A-BY-BABY.
7. MRS CROW AS A PRIMA DONNA.
8. THE MAN IN THE BRAMBLE-BUSH.
9. THE CHRISTMAS JOURNEY OF SANTA CLAUS.

All these modernized Mother-Goose Melodies, and the other poems in the little book, are handsomely illustrated in purely original designs, by our own artist. The work is exquisitely princed in colors on fine, heavy tin 30 paper, and superbly bound. It makes an elegant holiday souvenir, peculiarly appropriate for a present to children.

we believe, figures as a delegate to Congress from Alaska, is quoted as saying that he has been authorized by "the solid citizens" of that hyperborean territy to offer the United States Government $14,000,000 for Alaska, and to promise, in the event of the sale, that "a popular form of governent" shall be instituted there." Such talk is worse than idle it is humbug and "rot" of the worst sort. There are not enough "solid citizens" in all Alaska to raise a tithe of the sum named; and there is no more chance for a popular government of the true republican type in Alaska than there is for a feline without claws in the new home of Sitting Bull. Besides, it is absurd to talk about the United States selling territory that it acquired with the especial object of pushing one more foreign power off of the continent and preventing the expansion of Britain's possessions on the Pacific Coast, Alaska would be a large white elephant, with an oso blanco thrown in for good measure, if the coun try were to fall into the hands of private individuals or another "Russian-American" company; and as for an "independent government" there, it can never be. The bears would through the administration like a cyclone running by the light of the aurora borealis.

These ear-splitting and nerve-racking devices were for an era when clocks were a thing beyond the who, perhaps, would not be able to "tell time" if he had a clock, in this age all is changed. A good time-piece can be had for less than a dollar, and there is no toiler so poor as not to have one in his home, however humble. The clerk goes to his desk without the shriek of a whistle on the bank or the warehouse to warn him of the hour; a majority of the workers of the world manage to get to their daily tasks without the steam war-whoop of a triple whistle or the clang of a brazen bell, and it is high time that these disturbers of the peace be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things. What would we think of a city of a million people with a steam whistle on every house shricking out the breakfast hour of that particular domicile and advertising the fact that the hungry family was about to lay to and eat? yet there would be quite as much sense in it as there is in our mills and fourdries tooting an everlasting whistle three, four or five times a day into the ears of suffering sick people and exasperated well ones. Who has not sat beside some nervous, bedridden sufferer and seen him or her tortured by the howl of a steam whistle or the clangor of a silly and utterly senseless bell, or, worse still, a group of them? It is all wrong. The world has outgrown the bell and steam whistle, except on railway loco-motives, and a movement should be made to have them declared a nuisance in every town — for that they are a nuisance we all know full well. Every city has noise enough arising from the traffic which goes on over its pavements from the innumerable drays and street-cars that cannot be dispensed with, but the whistle and

They would still have left the "lnest houses, the speedlest horses, the best clothes, the swiftest yachts in the country, with an abundance of money to support them." And the populace might cry, "Strip them." And when they were stripped they would still be the most wealthy and envied men in the nation. It would not be such a terrible thing. THE letting of the contract for the erection of the coming great beet-sugar factory at Chino is arousing, and properly so, very great interest in all the region affected, which is practically the field of Southern California. Hull was the originator of the Cardiff giant hoax and the reports as to his death are conflicting. One attributes it to suicide, -an other says that it occurred the day following the robbery of his son-in-law, Mr. Gates, who lost $2500 in New York. The Cardiff giant was dug up on Hull's farm about 20 years ago, and Hull made considerable money out of it before the hoax was discovered. The giant is now lying, packed in a large wooden box, in a lot at El Paso, Tex., exposed to the view of all passers. The alleged mummy is nothing more than a huge block of stone rudely shaped to resemble a human being.

THE PRESIDENTS' MEETING.

It Will Be Held in New York on the Fifth of January.

New York, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The Journal of finance says: The date for the meeting of railway presidents to complete the organization of the new association has been changed from January 6 to January 5, and the place of meeting has also been changed from Chicago to the Windsor Hotel, New York City. This change was made Saturday by This change was made Saturday by the Executive Committee. In response to a telegram from President Miller asking if it would be convenient to hold the meeting at Chicago, January 6, it was found that quite a number of the railway presidents, some of them representing the largest lines in the country, could not attend the meeting on that date and in that city. As a result of this a constitution of the country of the country is the country of the country of the country could not attend the meeting on that date and in that city. The Emma Juch English Opera Company Tonight.

FLYING DUTCHMAN THE OPERA

Review of the Abbott Season-Miss Adelaide Moore the New Juliet at the Theater Tonight-Notes.

We are beginning to establish our claims to be considered a music-loving population, judging by the manner in which our citizens have turned out and patronized the two operatic organizations that have been ministering to our asthetic natures during the past week. It was supposed that Emma Abbott's season, beginning last Mon-day and including the rendition of six operas, three of them new to the local boards, would, in a measure, exhaust public interest in high-priced music. But this calculation was erroneous, for, mingled with the final notes of the departing troubadour, might have been heard the grand crash of martial music and the exalted choruses of the Hugue-nots, and on the same night that the fair Abbott folded her French frocks and silently stole away, tired and happy and several thousand dollars the richer, the new arrivals were evoking the applause of an audience that crowded the Grand Operahouse to the ceiling. "Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest," was the motto for the occasion.

It appears to be the general opinion among opera-goers that the Abbott season really served to whet the public appetite for this form of amusement, and the two companies being here at the same time afforded an opportunity never before offered in this city for impediately comparing the respective mediately comparing the respective merits of each. Miss Abbott has two inst-class artists in her company in the persons of Pruette and Broderick, and a very fair tenor in Michelena. Her chorus is small and its costumes were made to do duty too often in different operas. The stage-setting was that belonging to the theater, and nothing was provided in the way of scenic accessories. Add to this a small orchestra and it becomes obvious that the thrifty Emma can be exceedingly economical after securing a substantial guarantee from a public-spirited local manager. This became evident before the short season was quite over, and the interest of the feminine public had to be strongly stimulated in order to make the exhibition of the Paris gowns of Abbott herself compensate for the absence of other accessories and the deficiencies in the prima donna's vocalization. In reviewing the work done by the company one cannot but admire, in a certain sense, the untiring energy of the woman who could attempt to sing six leading heavy roles in four days, and also to go through what she herself admits is the hardest part of the performance, which is, to make four of five changes of heavy costumes in each piece. The physical exertion involved in such labor would be enough to break down any ordinary modern female constitution. So tar, however, as the exercion of singing is concerned, the fair reset is not always (sir in her machods, the indulges her auditors with high notes, trills and runs that are very effective in their way, but in medium tones she has no command of voice, no power of execution. This deficiency was most strikingly shown in her attempt to do the heavy dramatic work required in the part of "Anna Boleyn," and the defect is one not likely to be remedied for the reason that the singer is physically unable, from the manner in which she is compressed, to give the diaphragm the free play required for the production of middle and low or sustained tone. The Abbott voice is getting sharper and higher, perhaps, but it has cons

Turning now to the company yet with us, and of which Emma Juc is the titular head, it has been a matter the titular head, it has been a matter of regret that the notices of its fine performances have had to be abbreviated on account of such hindrances as time and space. The public, however, has not been slow to show in the most emphatic; way its appreciation of the good things set before it, and applauds the management for a faithful carrying out of its promises.

The costumes of the principals and down to the humblest member of the

The costumes of the principals and down to the humblest member of the chorus are remarkable, not only for the richness of material, where such richness is appropriate but for their historical accurracy. The med seval costumes of the soldiers in Faust, the war-like weapons of the period, the rich costumes of the nobles and ladies in The Huguenots and the perfection of detail in those worn in Lohengrin were matters of great gratification to all lovers of art, and afforded a means of education to those who do not give much thought to such matters. The scenic details have all been invented and carried out with an originality and acenic details have all been invented and carried out with an originality and taste that are eminently satisfactory, exception being taken, however, to the property swan used in Lohengrin. The stage manager should provide it with a swan-like neck before it gets to San Francisco. Its present curve is too suggestive of a barrel-hoop.

A satisfactory point to note in the singing of those of the principals who have been trained in the German school, and the company contains quite a number of them, is the distinctness of articulation with which they manage to convey the meaning of their lines in a language so hard to sing in as English. This excellence indeed pervades the company and renders it possible for an auditor with some previous knowledge of the story to follow the language with encouraging success. It can never be expected that the lines can be delivered with as much explicit clearness as if spoken. One listens for melody and it often, perhaps too often, becomes necessary to sacrifice sense for sound. This is just where the Wagnerian theory becomes of such importance and its carrying out so helpful to the artist and the listener. The dramatic element, instead of being subordinated to the musical, is made of equal value, music is employed as the language of the drama, and musical declamation takes the place of set melody, sweeping away, the traditional arias, duets, quartettes and concerted numbers, the property of the Italian school. The effect of this method of treatment was very distinctly shown in the performance of Lohengrin and will be equally well demonstrated in the same composer's work. The Flying Dutchman, tonight. It is a matter of regret that these two operas are all that we are to hear of the work of the great musical iconoclast this season.

The leading members of the company have firmly established them-selves in public favor here by their pany have firmly established themselves in public favor here by their work the past week. Miss Juch shows more than ever the possession of a brilliant, sympathetic voice, powerful without apparent effort, and true in every note. Her acting, too, is always unaffected, refined and free from the stereotyped mannerisms that too often afflict the operatic star.

Of Madame Januschowsky it may be said that she is evidently entitled to one of the highest places in her profession. Whether as the timid, yet passionate "Marguerite," or as the scheming, revengeful, Lady Macbethlike "Ottrud," she seems equally at home, showing a versatility quite uncommon on the lyric stage. She has a power all her own, of really electrifying an audience when the climax is reached, and if considered as an actress alone, is remarkable for her comprehensive methods and subtle effects. Carlotta Maconda will be seen and heard to morrow night as "Jemmy" the son of William Tell, in which role, though it is a small one, she will be as fascinating as ever. Miss Maconda's voice has improved materially since she was here with the Bostonians; it has gained in the middle register and the singer possesses now an additional richness and volume of voice that afford increased pleasure to the listener. In her acting she has also made considerable advance and her arch style, petite figure and intelligent, pretty face have gained her many warm admirers.

The cast of The Figing Dutchman, for this evening's performance includes Otto Rathjens, Franz Vetta, Payne Clarké, William Stephens and Louise Meislinger, with Emma Juch in her great role of "Senta." As the opera has never before been given here and the plot is perhaps unfamiliar to some readers, the following short synopsis of it may be acceptable:

The Flying Dutchman is founded upon the old legemt that the devil, overhearing a Dutch captain swear that he would weather the Cape of Good Hope in the face of a furious gale if he had to sail on forever, took him at his word and condemned him to drift about almiessly until the day of judgment. Only one release was offered nim, the love of woman if he could secure it for himself. Once In seven years was given him as the opportunity for his wooing. The plot of the opera opens with the arrival of the Dutchman's ship in a Norwegian bay. "Senta," the heroine, who has long loved the mysterious sailor, from a picture of him on the wall of her room, is fascinated by him, and piedges herself to share his sad lot until death. This releases the Dutchman from his curse, and the closing act is intensely dramatic. The villiage maldens endeavor to open friendly relations with the crew of the cursed ship but its crew refuse all overtures, instead, they sing the story of their mater's fate; at its close a storm arises which frightens all but the sallors of the doomed vessel. "Senta" is about to follow the Dutchman to his ship to share his fate when her earthly lover, "Erik," tries to draw her back. She resists. "The Flying Dutchman," after declaring himself, goes hastly on board the ship, which at once puts to sen. "Senta" wishes to follow but is held back by the others. She shakes here self free and throws herself into the sections sea. "Senta" wishes to follow but is held back by the others. She shakes here self free and throws herself into the sections sea. A NEW MORMON SECT.

They Believe in Prophet Smith, But Reject Polygamy.
CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[By the Asso ciated Press.] An effort is about to be made to establish permanently in Chicago a sect known as the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. In a modest way, gatherings of those in the city who maintain this faith have been held, but not until now has there been any attempt at organization. The headquarters of the denomination is at Lamonia, Decatur county, Iowa. Within a few weeks, it is said, missions will probably be established in different parts of the city, where services will be held regularly. A preliminary meeting was held today at No. 213 West Madison street. The people present were more earnest than people present were more earnest than numerous. Elder E. C. Briggs of Iowa preached a sermon in which the fundamental principles of the faith were explained. The sect declares the Joseph Smith to be the truth, but rejects the doctrine of plural marriage.

The Great Belmont Stables Finally Broken Up.

SOME OF THE NOTABLE HORSES

Honors to Stamboul-An Offer o $135,000 for the Stallion Nel son-Tapping the Wires
-Baseball.

The great Belmont stables have at last been broken up, the horses all being sold at auction in New York on last Saturday. August Belmont was a shining figure on the turf for many venrs past, and in his lifetime did a great deal toward advancing the interests of horse-racing in America. Belmont began his racing career in a small way. He at one time owned a white horse he had entered in a race, and the horse actually finished first, but the judges overlooked him and gave the race to another horse. Belmont was furiously angry at his treatment, and swore he would get black horses, that the judges couldn't help but see, so he bought Rhodamanthus, a black colt, and entered him soon after in a race. To his great delight "Rhod," as he was called, finished first, and the judges so declared it. From that time on, Mr. Belmont began his racing career in earnest, and at his death he had one of the most successful stables in existence. He won the Suburban of 1889 with the great gelding Baceland, and this year he won the Futurity stakes with Potomac, Masher, his stable companion running second. The first time in the history of the event that one owner has captured the first and second money. Potomac was bought, so the telegraph says, by Mike Dwyer of Booklyn, for $25,000. While this is a good price for Potomac, it is all that he is worth, and his new owner has not secured the great thing a horse of that price ought to be. Potomac is a St. Blaise, and while they have all been fine 2-year-old performers, they were rather mediocre as 3-year-olds. Potomac is not entered in any of the rich stake events of next year, and, with the chance a horse always has of going wrong or being injured, it 182 very doubtful if he will earn that sum at any time. Senator Hearst claims that he has as good a horse in Yosemite as Potomac, and a large finimber of turfites will agree with him. Yosemite has been a most consistent 2-year-old, He is by Hyder Ali out of Nellie Collins, she by Joe Hooker. Spokane, the sensational 3-year-old of last year, and who defeated that great horse Procotor Knot on three different performers in their last and 4 year old form, and Potomac was a sensational 4 year old form, and Potomac was a sensation of the performers in their last and a year old form. was called, finished first, and the judges so declared it. From that time all been indifferent performers in their day and 4 year old form, and Potomac may prove no exception their 183 and 4 year old form, and Potomac may prove no exception to this rule.

It isn't such a long time ago that Senator Hearst startled the horse world by paying $38,000 for King Thomas, as a yearing. King Thomas is by King Ban out of Maud Hampton, and if blood would tell, be ought to have been the great horse in the world, but although he has frequently been started he has yet to win his first race. Cambo ran two good races at the recent Coronado meeting. He ran a fire furlong heat race and won'n 1:011 and 1:021. A vary good race, and the same day ran second in a haif-mile dash that was ran in 0:49.

Smith and Reynolds of this city have sold to John Dickerson the 4-year-old stallion stamboul, Jr. (10 142.) by Stamboul 2:11, dam Flower Girl by Arthurton, second dam Flora, by Gen. McClelland, third dam by Langford, son of Williamson's Belmont. The price paid was $1800.

It is stated that an offer of $135,000 has been made for the stallion king. Nelson. This is a great sum of money to pay for a horse, but several seasons in the stud at $1000 a mare would soon pay for him. There is no probability that Nelson or his owner will ever received a merited expulsion. The National Trotting Association that expelled him is a separate institution from the American Association, over whose tracks Nelson has made his famous miles, but they in all probability will recognize the expulsion of Nelson and return tacks. Nelson has had the only stalling who has hald the sion of Nelson and refuse to allow his horse to trot over their tracks. Nelson is the only stallion who has held the class record and reduced it at every

W. S. Hobart, the owner of Stamboul W. S. Hobart, the owner of Stamboul, has received the Trotting-horse Breeders' stallion cup, representing the champion stallion of the present year. The cup is made of what is known as oxydized silver, heavily plated inside with gold. It is supported by the shafts of a sulky, with its stem resting on the head of Stamboul, encased in a horseshoe. On the reverse side of the cup are the figures 2:11½, which was made at the breeders' meeting, and on the base of the stem is 2:11, representing his present record. The San-Joaquin Agricultural Society, over whose track Stamboul made his present record, have presented Mr. Hobart with a beautiful diamond medal, in recognition of Stamboul's greatness. It is only a short time ago that William Fallon was convicted of tapping the Western Union wires in San Francisco, and sent to jail. He attempted to intercept the racing news before it reached the poolrooms and hold it until his confederates could play the winner. The little scheme fell through, however, as one of his accomplices betrayed him. Fallon spent some months last winter in this city, and tried to work the racket here, but could find no operator to stand in with him.

The latest attempt in this line, strange to say, has a woman mixed up in it. A Chicago clipping says: "Miss Maggle Thompson and Thomas P. Dudley, telegraph operators employed in Chicago, were arrested on the 17th at Chicago for tapping the wires to send fraudulent results of races. The complainant in the case was the Western Union Telegraph Company. It is alleged in the complaint that the compirators sent confederates to different poolrooms in Washington to buy pools on "short" horses. Then the pair of telegraph operators tapped the wires, sent the winners to correspond with their bets, cashed their tickets for large sums, and after all this had been done and the conspirators had made good their escape, the real race results were sent to the poolrooms. An investigation was set on foot a d the conspirators indicted in Washington. Dudley claims to be a relative of Carter Harrison, ex-Mayor of Chicago, but that gentleman deries any relationship. He says that he knows who Dudley is, and that his life has been such flaat no respectable person can afford to have anything to do with him."

Some very noted performers have been sold for insignificant sums of money before their true greatness was suspected. The highest price in twelve trotting celebrities is $480, as given by Clark's Review, and the lowest was old Flora Temple. The following table gives the original sale, price, and the records subsequently attained by these

BASEBALL.

BASEBALL.

It is stated that forty men will be put to work today removing the grand put to work today removing the grand stand and fence from Temple street to the old First-street grounds, so as to be ready for the opening day on next Thursday. Two games will be played on New Year's day, one in the morning, and one in the afternoon, between the Frisco's and the Los Angeles teams. The Frisco's will arrive today from San Diego. The Los Angeles boys are very confident of winning both games; and say they want nothing better than to get up against Coughlin's curves. Jimmy Fogarty, the great and only Jim, will probably play in the Los Angeles team when they open in this city.

Jim, will probably play in the Los Angeles team when they open in this city.

The California colts have returned from the Sandwich Islands, after giving the Kanakas a taste of baseball, and winning every game they played. Among the colts, was little Jimmy Ward of this city, who did some very clever work behind the bat. The California boys gave the islanders some points in the game they had never witnessed before, and one of these was coaching. An Hawaian paper in speaking of this feature of one of the games, said: "The home players were evidently disconcerted by the novel features introduced by the coachers of the Californias. They kept up a din of shouting that must have made our auctioneers turn green with envy at their capacity of turbulent elecution. The grand stand was kept ringing with laughter at the war-whooning of the coachers." These the have had ward at tempt at coaching, can imagine home they are the part of turning the Leaves.

Machine for Turning Book Leaves. A company is being promoted for the purpose of introducing a novel machine purpose of introducing a novel machine for automatically turning over the leaves of books, which is especially adaptable for libraries, hotels, railway stations, shop windows, etc. "The Herald Exhibitor," as it has been named, is the patent of Mr. T. W. Tetley, of Bradford, who claims that the machine will work for a need or larger resid according to a week or longer period, according to adjustment, without attention, and will turn over any size or weight of leaves, within reasonable limits, allowing suffi-cient interval for perusal between each operation. When a leaf has been turned over in either direction the machine automatically reverses, and so arranges it-self as to be ready to raise the following leaf, thus giving a continuous motion. If the appliance fullfils all that is claimed for it by the inventor, it seems highly probable that an extensive use may be found for it in public museums, libraries, etc.—Industries.

Cows No Longer Own Fort Dodge The Fort Dodge cow, whose proud po-tion as queen of the city has made her famous the world over, has been deposed A herd law was passed by almost a nnanimous vote of the people at the re-cent election shutting off all the privi-leges which that favored animal has enjoyed with perfect immunity for twenty years. The result of the election was great surprise to the friends of the cow who had supposed her firmly intrepched in popular favor. The overwhelming victory of the anti-cow factions is laid to the tremendous agitation of a year ago, which held up the cow thraldom the city to the ridicule of the civilize world. Anti-cow agitators in the country over will be encouraged in their world by this famous victory in this hitherto-impregnable stronghold of the bovine The vote was ten to one against the free dom of the cow.—Cor. Chicago Tribune

Killed by the Shock. People will not take warning by the fate of others, and guns will go off when han-dled carelessly. The latest resultant casu-alty had for its victim Patrick Shea, an alty had for its victim Patrick Shea, an unmarried laborer, 25 years of age, who lived at 38 Fisher street. Toronto. He fooled with an old musket, and finally applied a lighted match to the nipple. The gun was loaded and at once went off, but without shooting any one. The shock, however, knocked Shea down, and when picked up he was dead. Dr. Lynd was summoned and pronounced death to have resulted from nervous shock. No inquest was held.

Slighted. It is hard for us, whether we are old or young, to see our best efforts pass un-appreciated; and what older people feel

Little Mary, who is only 4 years old, had a new hat given to her, of which she felt very proud. On the following Sunday she wore it to church, but her pleasure in the event was greatly lessened by the fact that a certain lad on whom her childish affections were just then set appeared not to notice her splendid

HANDY WITH HIS PEN. A Convict Does Some Clever Forging in

C. R. Bachman, a "frebug," forger and confidence man in the penitentiary at San Quentin, Cal., has greatly distinguished himself and taken the highest rank among criminal experts by many adroit tricks and the perpetration even in prison of a skillful forgery which was almost a success

Bachman has a record for daring frauds and remarkable acquittals. In 1886 he was tried in England on a charge of stealing £300 from the steamship George while at Port Said, but escaped conviction and soon reached San Francisco as steward of the British bark Brus-The bark was burned while lying at Vallejo street dock, and Bachman was convicted of setting long in San Quentin till he forged the so called "John McCombletters," which were used in a contest before the California legislature—at least he swore that he had forged them, though he afterward admitted that he had been paid for making the confession.

The official letters used to convey orders to the deputy warden of San Quentin have the address printed on them and Bach-man being a man of skill and some pro-fessional experience, occasionally had charge of the mail. He soon formed a ring with the other mail handlers. They procured a number of envelopes and were thus able to open the official mail, read and reseal it without detection. They seemed in a fair way to make a profitable traffic in the secrets thus obtained when Bachman tried too big a job and was william Phelps, an old man who is serving a life sentence for murder, has several hundred dollars on deposit in the warden's hands. Bachman induced him to warden's hands. Escaman induced him to employ a lawyer, did the writing for him, and encouraged him with the hope of getting a pardon. Finally Bachman forged a check upon the warden with Phelps' signature and a note of approval by the proper official. The warden accepted both, and was about to draw the check (it was a cominally navable to the lawyer) when a and was about to draw the check (it was nominally payable to the lawyer) when a penitentiary official who knew Bachman's tricks called in the convict Phelps and the check was proved to be a forgery. It is scarcely necessary to add that the peculiar talents of Mr. Bachman and the peculiar methods of penitentiary management have excited some astonishment in Call-fornia.

The fact that the Indians did not appear on "ration day" was taken by the whites as conclusive evidence that they had "gone hostile," and the isolated settlers of that region came into Pierre on the ran, the houses of many being plundered during their absence and their cattle killed. THE RAYMOND.

Some of the Late Social Happenings on the Hill. The farce Turn Him Out was presented by the following cast Saturday night: "Nicodemus Nobbs," Mr. C. W. Bell; "Eglantine Roseleaf," Mr. W. Bell; "Eglantine Roselear, Mr. C. A. Scharff; "Mackintosh Moke," Mr. P. A. V. Van Doren; "Julia, his wife," Miss Gleason; "Susan, maid of all work," Mrs. Winslow; "Two Porters," John and Dan. The players scored an instant hit, keeping the audience in a continued state of merriment. Dancing followed.

A number of the guests attended the Pasadena churches yesterday morning. Driving was a favorite pastime during the afternoon, and in the evening the orchestra rendered the following antertaining programme in the purpose. the orchestra rendered the following entertaining programme in the parlors: March, from Suite (Lachner); overture, "Nabuco" (Verdi); duet, for flute and cornet, "Swiss Boy and His Lass" (Popp); Gavotte, "Little Nestlings" (Moses); Morceaux, "Traumerei" (Schuman); selection, "Traviata" (Verdi). The orchestra contains the following accomplished soloists: A. Diefenthaler, violin; R. H. Merritt, cornet; C. E. Goodwin, flute; Ellis Ames, plano. All except Mr. Goodwin were at the house last winter.

The guests will be entertained by a minstrel show Tuesday night. The company contains the best burnt-cork talent obtainable hereabouts, and all the jokes are warranted to be entirely new and original. There will be four end men and an interlocutor of national reputation. Wednesday evening the customary New Year's eve masquerade ball will take place. A number of haudsome costumes are being prepared especially for this occasion.

The register tells of the following late arrivals: Mrs. Mathewson, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. B. Chandler, Los Angeles; Mrs. C. M. Cafferty, and L. M. Cafferty, Binghamton, N. Y.; L. D. Cafferty, Mrs. Abijah Baker, W. Thomas, San Francisce; Mr. and Mrs. Sheels, Chicago; S. D. Rosenbaum, A. A. Kingsland, New York; Mrs. H. Savage, Dr. J. O. Bates, W. Savidge, Michigan; Dr. Charles Emerson, Denver; G. F. Black, New Mexico; John M. C. Marsh, wife and children, Denver; W. J. Van Horn, Flagstaff, Arlz.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The public librarian's report shows gradual increase of subscribers and in the number of the works read. This is progress in the right direction.

The Masons of Pasadena comprise representative class of citizens. The order is numerically strong here, and is steadily growing.

Regarding the reported shipment of infected fruit trees from the East t Pasadena, the local nurserymen are emphatic in the statement that no trees have been ordered from the East or received by them recently, and guarantee their stock to be free from

In such a climate as this, where s many consumptives come each year in the hope of staying the progress of the disease, more than ordinary interest is naturally manifested in the ef-ficacy of Dr. Koch's asserted remedy. The medical profession of the United States has adopted an eminently practical method of testing the curative properties of the medicine. A liberal supply of the lymph has been received and experiments are now being made in the hos-pitals of our large cities. A compari-son of views among the physicians who are making it an object of special study will doubtless lead to some defistudy will doubtless lead to some defi-nite conclusions as to this widely-her-alded remedial agency. The judg-ment of the American physicians is likely to be more impartial than those of the British or French col-leges, whose leading members seem to be animated by a spirit of prejudice and jeslousy against anything that is German.

New Orleans has just shipped her largest cargo of cotton. It amounted to 12,250 bales, valued at about $612,000, and was carried away by the steamer British Queen. The largest cargo of cotton that has ever left a United States port consisted of 13,700 bales, which was taken out of Norfolk, Va., in March, 1888. The weight of the bales in that cargo fell considerably short of those comprising the cargo of the British Queen, hence the actual difference between the two cargoes was less than appears by the actual count of bales.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am a pioneer in this county, having been here 30 years. Four years ago my little son Ellery became blood-poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be ampulated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood puri-fler, new to me, and was surpised to learn that it was prepared by C. I. Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Chelsea, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Earsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He con-tinued to grew better as we gave him the Sarsa-parilla, and having used 8 bottles is now entirely eured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results, I recommend it all I pos-sibly can." JEROME M. SLEEFER, Upper Lake, Lake Co., Cal.

By his Aeroan system of practice, which consists of Medicated Inhalations and Compound Oxygen, being administered to the patient, instead of filling the system with posenous drugs administered by the stemach.

This is the system of practice which is now attracting the attention of the best physicisms throughout every country in the civil zed world, and truly wonderful are the results obtained after all other means have failed in accomplishing any good whatever.

ASTHMA.

It is a common error to suppose every disease which is attended by oppressed breathing to be Ashma or Pathisio. We have shortness of breath in Consumption and Preumonia, just as we do in Ashma, only that in these diseases it is always present, whereas in Ashma is a cocurs in percent of the lungs. Asthma is a spasmodic decade in an arrowsms. Asthma is a spasmodic decade of the lungs, which manifests itself in percent attended with great difficulty of breathing while it is the latest of the lungs of lungs of the lungs of lungs of the lungs of lungs of ness of breath is increased on the slightest exertion.

It is a foolisa conceit of many peopel to believe that if they have asthma they cannot get consumation. The truth is the very opposite. They are more liable to fail into tonsumption because they have the Asthma Another idea is that the Asthma itself is not a danger ous disease, and yet the bublished bils of mortality for this city prove thail who read them that great numbers lose their lives every year by this foul destroyer of our homes.

lives every year of this rout desired. A vision themes.

Without courage and perseverance nothing is curable. But with these, sided by proper and skill ful treatment. Asthma can be cured even after the lungs are extensively diseased. Fersons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the r-medies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or indicates. From the sale of the course Eastern visitors and invalids will be was in being cured before they return home. Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to voit that office nersonally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge.
